Report House Members Got Milk Money

WASHINGTON (AP) — At least 16 members of the House Judiciary Committee accepted political donations ranging from $100 to $11,000 from the same three dairy farmer cooperatives the panel is investigating as part of its impeachment probe.

Two members, Democrat Charles B. Rangel of New York and Republican Thomas F. Ricksback of Illinois, decided to return the money after being questioned about it by The Associated Press.

Rangel got $100 from Associated Milk Producers, Inc. last March, and sent it back Monday with a letter saying it would be improper for him to accept it.

An aide to Ricksback said he would give back $500 that he received from the same group in 1972 "because he wants to be free of any conflict of interest."

The others, including committee chairman Peter W. Rodino Jr., who got $4,100, said they saw no conflict.

The biggest recorded donation went to Rep. Edward Mezvinsky, a first-term Democrat from Iowa, who got $11,000.

According to public records going back to April 7, 1972, these committee members were given money by one or more of the co-ops, Associated Milk Producers, Inc., Dairymen, Inc., and Mid-America Dairymen, Inc.:

M. Caldwell Butler, R-Va., $1,500; William S. Cohen, R-Maine, $3,000; John Conyers Jr., D-Mich. $100; David W. Dennis, R-Ind., $500; Walter Flowers, D-Ala., $1,000; Harold V. Froehlich, R-Wis., $100; William L. Hungate, D-Mo., $2,300; Robert W. Kastenmeier, D-Wis., $2,650; Trent Lott, R-Miss., $2,500; Robert McClory, R-Ill., $500; Mezvinsky, $11,000; Wayne Owens, D-Utah, $2,600; Ricksback, $500; Rangel, $100; Rodino, $4,100 and Jerome R. Waldie, D-Calif., $200.

Kastenmeier, Hungate and Flowers were among sponsors of legislation to raise the federal support price for milk in 1971. The White House has cited this legislation, sponsored eventually by 121 House members, as a key reason President Nixon overruled the Agriculture Department and raised milk price supports in March 1971.

LEAA Chief On Way Out, Reports Say

WASHINGTON (AP) — Donald E. Santarelli, a Nixon administration trooper who broke ranks, reportedly is on his way out but nobody wants to talk about it.

Congressional sources said Monday that Santarelli has resigned as head of the Law Enforcement Assistance Administration, the Justice Department agency that passes out nearly $900 million a year to state and local governments to fight crime.

Santarelli refused to talk to reporters. His aides first said "no comment" to the report, but later referred questions to the White House. The White House and Justice Department had no comment.

Last week, Santarelli, a glib and brainy 36-year-old lawyer told an Associated Press reporter that the Watergate scandal has made the government "a nastier place to be these days."

He said then that he wanted to leave government service soon, but meantime he would "very assiduously avoid" mentioning President Nixon's name in public.

When the report was published, Santarelli complained of a misunderstanding and claimed he had not meant his remarks for publication. Three days later, he complained of the "unfortunate notoriety" the news account stimulated and launched into tepid praise for the President's support of LEAA. Coincidentally or not, he skirted the parts of his written text referring to Nixon by name.

Colson To Tell About Watergate

WASHINGTON (AP) — Former White House counsel Charles W. Colson's desire to "tell everything I know" could make him a key figure in the House Judiciary Committee's impeachment inquiry.

Colson's conversations with President Nixon on subjects involved in the inquiry are among those tapes the committee has subpoenaed and Nixon has refused to provide.

He also has played a leading role in White House dealings with the International Telephone & Telegraph Corp., dairy co-ops, and in the activities of the White House plumbers. The committee begins looking into ITT matters today.

Colson pleaded guilty Monday to a single count of obstructing justice in the trial of Daniel Ellsberg, accused of leaking the Pentagon papers. Under an arrangement with special Watergate prosecutor Leon Jaworski, Colson will not be prosecuted on three other charges in the Ellsberg case and in the Watergate cover-up.

Colson said he agreed to the arrangement so he would be free "to tell everything I know about the Watergate and Watergate-related matters."

The 42-year-old lawyer will be sentenced June 21 on a charge that he carried out a plan to "defame and destroy the public image and credibility" of Ellsberg. A felony, it carries a maximum penalty of five years in prison and a $5,000 fine.

His arrangement with Jaworski is designed to make him available as a prosecution witness in the various trials the special prosecutor is preparing. But William Merrill, assistant special prosecutor, said Colson would be free to testify before the Judiciary Committee if he wants to.

Chairman Peter W. Rodino Jr., D-N.J., who hopes to speed up the inquiry by limiting the number of witnesses, would not comment about the possibility that Colson would be called. No decision will be made on witnesses, he said, until all documentary evidence has been presented in about three weeks.

Other committee members, however, said they hoped Colson would be called.

Earlier Monday, Robert McClory of Illinois became the first Republican on the committee to speak in favor of finding Nixon in contempt of Congress, if that would result in getting the tapes the committee has subpoenaed.

The Senate Watergate Committee also may call Colson.

His importance as a potential witness in the impeachment inquiry is underscored in a Judiciary Committee staff memorandum to members justifying a request for various taped presidential conversations.

It lists nine telephone calls and meetings between Nixon and Colson bearing on the Watergate break-in, payments to keep the convicted burglars quiet and an alleged offer of executive clemency to one of them.

In the ITT antitrust settlement, which became involved in the Senate confirmation hearings of Richard Kleindienst as attorney general, Colson urged that the nomination be withdrawn.

"His reason included the possibility that documents would be revealed suggesting that the President was involved in the ITT situation ... " the memorandum says.

In 1970, it says, Colson served as the White House contact for the Associated Milk Producers Inc. and received its pledge for a $2 million contribution to Nixon's re-election campaign.

The committee is investigating whether milk price support increases were approved in return for the contributions.

President Linked To Dirty Trick

WASHINGTON (AP) — Jeb Stuart Magruder says he was told that President Nixon approved at least one campaign dirty trick in 1972—a phony write-in campaign for Sen. Edward M. Kennedy in the New Hampshire Democratic primary.

Magruder, who goes to prison today for his part in the Watergate scandal, recounts the incident in his book, "An American Life—One Man's Road to Watergate," scheduled for publication June 26.

Most of the first-person account retraces with some new detail the Watergate events spelled out in his dramatic Senate testimony last summer, but Magruder discloses a few new incidents.

He said the write-in was conceived by former special presidential counsel Charles W. Colson "to create confusion among the Democrats" and "sow ill will between Kennedy and (Sen. Edmund S.) Muskie," who was considered the frontrunner in the Democratic presidential race.

Magruder, who was deputy director of President Nixon's re-election campaign, said he opposed the multi-thousand-dollar plan because "it seemed like a large outlay for a dubious result."

"Then, one day in February, I was in the White House and encountered Colson just outside the President's office," Magruder wrote. "We've got to get that mailing going," he told me. "I've just come from talking to the President, and he thinks it's crucial."

Magruder said White House chief of staff H.R. Haldeman "told me that what Colson said was true, the President did want the pro-Kennedy mailing in New Hampshire."

The mailing seeking Kennedy write-in votes did go out but netted fewer than 1,000 votes. Magruder termed it "a waste of time and money."

The Senate Watergate committee investigated the incident last year but apparently was unable to trace the mailing to its source.

Magruder implicated former Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell in the decision approving the break-in and bugging of Democratic headquarters in the Watergate complex and recounted the careful plans to cover up high-level involvement in the abortive scheme.

He wrote that shortly after the June 17, 1972 break-in, he played tennis with then-Vice President Spiro T. Agnew, who asked: "Jeb, what the hell is going on?"

"It was our operation," I said. "It got screwed up. We're trying to take care of it," Magruder said he replied. "Agnew frowned and looked away. 'I don't think we ought to discuss it again, in that case.'"

Ohio Assemblymen Face Heavy Floor Agendas Today

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Both houses of the Ohio Legislature faced heavy floor agendas today as leaders and committees sought to decide if there will be a supplemental appropriations bill.

The House scheduled floor sessions at 11 a.m. and 1:30 p.m. while the Senate, which met Monday in an unusual night floor session, planned to convene at 1:30 p.m.

House members faced a calendar of 13 bills, including a pair designed to increase the benefits of retired public employees. Senators planned to deal with legislation aimed at increasing the taxing powers of regional transit authorities.

Chairman Max H. Dennis, R-10 Wilmington, chairman of the Senate Finance Committee, said he would place supplemental spending proposals into a subcommittee to see if differences can be worked out between conflicting Democratic and GOP recommendations.

Dennis' committee gave its first hearing Monday night to Gov. John J. Gilligan's bill to earmark $43.5 million in initial state lottery proceeds for various purposes in the fiscal year starting July 1.

Storms Hit In Plains

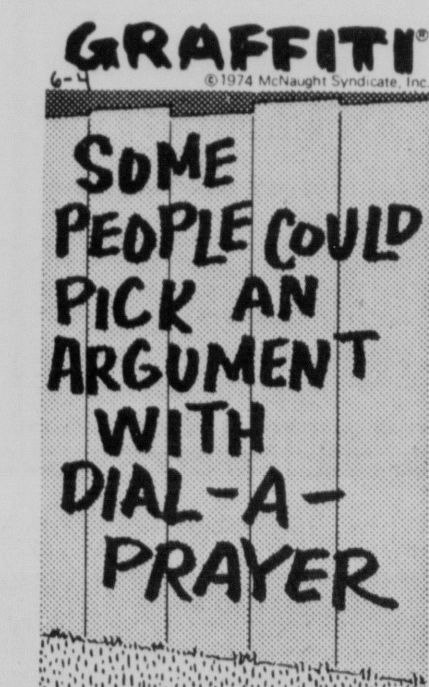

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Thunderstorms prowled the Plains today after unleashing high winds, hail and tornadoes from the Dakotas to Texas.

Numerous funnel clouds were sighted late Monday, but twisters reportedly touched down only in north-central Texas, and near Clifford, N.D.; Claremont, Minn.; Aberdeen, S.D., and Liberal, Kan.

More than 4 inches of rain deluged an area near Paducah, Tex., in two hours while up to 3 inches during the similar period caused flooding throughout the Texas south plains.

Scattered storms also hit areas of Florida and the central and northern Rockies early today, and parts of the Pacific Northwest were dampened by showers.

Skies were clear over most of the Ohio Valley, the middle and northern Atlantic Coast states, southern Texas, and the western Plains.

8 States Hold Primary Elections Today

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
The primary election for nominees seeking to replace Ronald Reagan as governor and a stern campaign reform measure focused election attention today on California, one of eight states holding primaries.

In the featured contest on the longest ballot in California history, 18 Democrats and six Republicans sought their party nominations to succeed Reagan, the GOP governor who has dominated California politics the past eight years. Reagan is not seeking re-election.

Other primaries are being held in Alabama, Iowa, Mississippi, Montana, New Jersey, New Mexico and South Dakota.

In California, opinion polls say the front-runner for the GOP nomination is state Controller Houston I. Flournoy, 44, an Ivy League-educated political scientist and former college professor.

Lt. Gov. Ed Reinecke also is seeking the nomination despite perjury indictments brought against him by Watergate prosecutors. Reinecke, once favored for the GOP nomination, was indicted for testimony regarding International Telephone and Telegraph.

Leading Democratic candidate is Secretary of State Edmund G. Brown Jr., 36, son of the former governor defeated by Reagan in 1966.

Also on the ballot is Proposition 9, a 22,000-word long measure put before the voters by petition and sponsored by Common Cause as a model for national reform controlling campaign fundraising, spending and lobbyists' activities.

In other states: ALABAMA — Gov. George C. Wallace is remaining neutral in a run-off election for lieutenant governor, where Lt. Gov. Jere Beasley faces millionaire businessman Charles Woods.

IOWA — Harold E. Hughes is vacating his seat in the U.S. Senate. U.S. Rep. John C. Culver is unopposed for the Democratic nomination for Hughes' seat while a state senator and a state representative are seeking the GOP nomination. Republican Gov. Robert D. Ray is unopposed in his party. Three Democrats seek nomination to oppose him in November.

MISSISSIPPI — Nominations for three congressional seats and numerous local offices are at stake today. The congressional campaigns drew little interest and were overshadowed in some areas by the judicial races.

MONTANA — The state's two congressmen are unopposed within their parties but there are primaries to elect opponents for the general election.

NEW JERSEY — The primary campaigns to pick major party candidates for 15 congressional seats attracted an unusually large field of candidates but stirred little voter interest. No incumbent seeking renomination anticipated serious problems.

NEW MEXICO — Four Republicans and six Democrats are seeking nominations for the governorship being vacated by Democrat Bruce King, who cannot succeed himself.

Markets

NEW YORK (AP) — Visions of declining interest rates inspired another broad advance in the stock market today.

The noon Dow Jones average of 30 industrials was up 8.14 at $29.40 on top of a 19.09-point surge Monday. Gainers swamped losers by 6-to-1 in active trading on the New York Stock Exchange.

Analysts said the strong rally was touched off by prime-rate cuts posted Monday by banks in Chicago and St. Louis. They added, however, that it appeared the rally would need further signs of a downturn in money rates to continue much longer.

Tandy Corp. was the NYSE's most-active stock, down 3/4 at 23 3/4. A 134,400-share block of the issue changed hands at 23.

On the American Stock Exchange, the market-value index climbed .91 to 82.95.

The Amex' most heavily traded issue was Syntex, down 1/4 at 46.

The Big Board's composite index of some 1,500 common stocks was .48 higher at 40.29.

LE Board Gives Okay For Athletic Building

The final okay was given by the Logan Elm Board of Education to the Athletic Booster Club to proceed with the athletic building. A representative from the Booster Club was present at the regular board meeting Monday night with plans for the building which will house concessions, the football team and storage facilities. The building will be financed by the club.

Resignations were accepted from two non-certified employees and employment confirmed for one member of the teaching staff. Bonnie Watson, secretary at the Washington Township School, submitted her resignation and the board approved the transfer of high school secretary Peg Allen to fill the vacancy. One secretary position remains open in the district and the high school principal Dow West was authorized to begin interviewing applicants for the high school secretarial position.

Bus driver Mike DeLong submitted his resignation leaving several vacancies to be filled in this area.

Janice Rice was re-employed by the board as an elementary teacher. The board gave her a two-year contract.

Steve Rawlins and Pearl Stant were offered summer employment as maintenance personnel. Additional duty assignments will be given partly in July and the remainder will be made in September after school begins.

In routine business, the board authorized the borrowing of $70,000 to meet the payroll for this month.

The board was notified that the Neighborhood Youth Corps will be revitalized this summer. If ten or more youths are assigned to the Logan Elm District, the board will employ James Fletcher, guidance counselor, to supervise them. The program is run through Community Action.

Jewell Hinton, the lunchroom manager, gave an informative report to the board concerning the food service program in the district. Her report was followed by questions from board members.

The concept of a proposed reorganizational plan was accepted by the board with details to be developed as quickly as possible and a report to be given to the board determining if these details can be worked out and put into effect by the beginning of the 1974-75 school year.

A committee composed of board members Robert Bowers and Donald Bower will work with local superintendent John Henn to proceed with finalizing plans to build the vocational agriculture building. The building is necessary for the district to retain federal funding for the vocational agriculture program. The State Department of Education had already notified the board that the two-year grace period has ended to have the building completed.

Approval was given to Bernice Pennington, Mary Dumm, Mary Agin and Jewell Hinton to attend the Food Service Workshop at Miami University June 11-13. In other business, the board reaffirmed its policy of not permitting the use of school building for certain types of activities, thus denying a request to use a building for a wedding reception.

The board also accepted and approved the contract for the Satellite Media services for this past school year.

The meeting was adjourned with a resolution to continue the business left on the agenda until June 17. A tentative budget will be reviewed at that time and two copies filed, one at the clerk's office and one at the county auditor's office for public inspection. A public hearing will be set up on July 8.

Robert Dewey Wicker, 36, Ashville, was arrested by Pickaway County Sheriff's Deputy Earl Kuhn for aggravated menacing to Helen Irene Bloomfield, Ashville, 2 a.m. Tuesday.

According to the report taken by Deputy Kuhn, Wicker followed Ms. Bloomfield to her sisters' home, when he threatened her with a knife.

Wicker pleaded guilty in Municipal Court Tuesday morning. He was fined $200 and costs and 90 days in jail. The fine and jail sentence were suspended with Judge Lamb placing Wicker on one year probation.

Moorehead Bound To Grand Jury

Paul M. Moorehead, 22, 475 N. Court St., was bound to grand jury, Monday, by Municipal Court Judge Sterling Lamb.

Charged with the May 16 breaking and entering of Dr. R. S. Hosler's office, Ashville, with two other men previously arrested, Moorehead waved a preliminary hearing entering no plea.

Bond was set at $5,000.

He pleaded guilty to a charge of petit theft in the same case. Fine was set at $200 and 90 days in the Pickaway County Jail.

Kidnaper Gets $700,000

TULSA, Okla. (AP) — "I put myself in the hands of the Lord, and I was never afraid," Tulsa businessman Walter H. Helmerich said after his eight-hour kidnapping ended with payment of a ransom unofficially reported at $700,000.

The FBI said no arrests have been made.

Helmerich, 51, millionaire president of Helmerich and Payne, Inc., a worldwide oil drilling company, and director in numerous other firms, was released unharmed Monday by what he called a "very thoughtful" kidnaper.

A lone man stopped Helmerich's car while he was on his way to work. He said it was his normal route to the office and the kidnaper evidently knew it.

Helmerich said he was blindfolded, bound and forced to ride on the floor of a car until his release near a tank farm at Jenks, a small town five miles south of Tulsa. Helmerich said the abductor stopped frequently, apparently making telephone calls.

The FBI said a ransom demand sent to the Utica National Bank, partly owned by Helmerich family members, was met by Walter H. Helmerich Jr., father of the victim. Details were not disclosed.

Solons Help Own Pensions

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Legislators are among those who would benefit from a bill boosting the pensions of public employees, scheduled for a House floor vote today. The measure, sponsored by state Rep. John D. Thompson Jr., D-15 Cleveland, was one of three pension bills to be taken up when the House convened shortly before noon.

The others would increase pension benefits of state highway patrolmen and sheriffs and their deputies.

The Thompson bill would change the formula for determining pension benefits. Instead of a pension being based on the final highest five years of salary, it would be on the highest three years of salary.

Legislators have voted themselves 37.3 per cent salary increases within the last two years.

302 Buckeye Wing Wins Service Award

The 302nd Tactical Airlift Wing (Air Force Reserve) at Rickenbacker Air Force Base, was presented the top Department of Defense award for community service at Pentagon ceremonies May 29.

This is the fourth time in as many years that the 302d "Buckeye Wing" or one of its subordinate units has won this national award.

The DoD Community Service Award is presented annually to those units of all military Reserve and National Guard branches with the best overall programs of volunteer service to the civilian community.

Deputy Secretary of Defense William P. Clements Jr. presented the award to Col. Justin L. Townsley, 302d commander, and Major Milum Grigsby, 302d Social Actions Officer.

He told the two Reserve officers that this award and their wing's record of achievement in community service indicates that the 302nd "is a part of the central Ohio community; not a part from it."

This is the overall purpose of the DoD Community Service effort—to encourage military units to get involved in their civilian communities; to offer help and aid through useful projects while strengthening mutual respect between the military member and his or her civilian counterpart.

The 302nd's award-winning community service program includes: a summer neighborhood clinic providing free physical exams, cycle cell anemia testing and preventive dental care in Newark; the co-sponsorship of a group home for homeless pre-teenage boys in Columbus; the renovation of a house used by Pickaway County as a group home for homeless teenage boys in Circleville; and a continuing program of base tours and orientation flights in military aircraft for youth groups from across the state.

Governor John Gilligan formally recognized the 302nd for "its proud heritage of service to the people of Ohio" by proclamation last summer.

The Buckeye Wing received its third consecutive Air Force Reserve Community Relations Award for the best community service program within that national command.

Markets

NEW YORK (AP) — Visions of declining interest rates inspired another broad advance in the stock market today.

The noon Dow Jones average of 30 industrials was up 8.14 at 829.40 on top of a 19.09-point surge Monday. Gainers swamped losers by 6-to-1 in active trading on the New York Stock Exchange.

Analysts said the strong rally was touched off by prime-rate cuts posted Monday by banks in Chicago and St. Louis. They added, however, that it appeared the rally would need further signs of a downturn in money rates to continue much longer.

Tandy Corp. was the NYSE's most-active stock, down 1/4 at 23 3/4. A 134,400-share block of the issue changed hands at 23.

On the American Stock Exchange, the market-value index climbed .91 to 82.95.

The Amex' most heavily traded issue was Syntex, down 1/4 at 46.

The Big Board's composite index of some 1,500 common stocks was .48 higher at 44.29.

A lone man stopped Helmerich's car while he was on his way to work. He said it was his normal route to the office and the kidnaper evidently knew it.

Helmerich said he was blindfolded, bound and forced to ride on the floor of a car until his release near a tank farm at Jenks, a small town five miles south of Tulsa. Helmerich said the abductor stopped frequently, apparently making telephone calls.

The FBI said a ransom demand sent to the Utica National Bank, partly owned by Helmerich family members, was met by Walter H. Helmerich Jr., father of the victim. Details were not disclosed.

Believe Walleye Population Rise Likely In Lake

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio wildlife officials say the walleye population of Lake Erie, once dangerously low, could be on the upswing.

But whether the fish contain less mercury than in 1970, when the U.S. Food and Drug Administration ordered a ban in fishing, isn't really known, officials said Monday.

"The walleye population is what we might call static, or slightly improving," said Russell School, supervisor of Lake Erie fisheries.

The Ohio Division of Wildlife in 1972 ordered a five-year moratorium on walleye fishing in the lake, primarily to build up a depleted stock.

Destruction Set

NEWARK, N.J. (AP) — The Bon Vivant Soup Co. has agreed to government destruction of 1.5 million cans of soup recalled three years ago after a New York man died from botulism reportedly traced to a can of the company's vichyssoise.

Solons Help Own Pensions

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Legislators are among those who would benefit from a bill boosting the pensions of public employees, scheduled for a House floor vote today.

The measure, sponsored by state Rep. John D. Thompson Jr., D-15 Cleveland, was one of three pension bills to be taken up when the House convened shortly before noon.

The others would increase pension benefits of state highway patrolmen and sheriffs and their deputies.

The Thompson bill would change the formula for determining pension benefits. Instead of a pension being based on the final highest five years of salary, it would be on the highest three years of salary.

Legislators have voted themselves 37.3 per cent salary increases within the last two years.

302 Buckeye Wing Wins Service Award

The 302nd Tactical Airlift Wing (Air Force Reserve) at Rickenbacker Air Force Base, was presented the top Department of Defense award for community service at Pentagon ceremonies May 29.

This is the fourth time in as many years that the 302d "Buckeye Wing" or one of its subordinate units has won this national award.

The DoD Community Service Award is presented annually to those units of all military Reserve and National Guard branches with the best overall programs of volunteer service to the civilian community.

Deputy Secretary of Defense William P. Clements Jr. presented the award to Col. Justin L. Townsley, 302d commander, and Major Milum Grigsby, 302d Social Actions Officer.

He told the two Reserve officers that this award and their wing's record of achievement in community service indicates that the 302nd "is a part of the central Ohio community; not a part from it."

This is the overall purpose of the DoD Community Service effort—to encourage military units to get involved in their civilian communities; to offer help and aid through useful projects while strengthening mutual respect between the military member and his or her civilian counterpart.

The 302nd's award-winning community service program includes: a summer neighborhood clinic providing free physical exams, cycle cell anemia testing and preventive dental care in Newark; the co-sponsorship of a group home for homeless pre-teenage boys in Columbus; the renovation of a house used by Pickaway County as a group home for homeless teenage boys in Circleville; and a continuing program of base tours and orientation flights in military aircraft for youth groups from across the state.

Governor John Gilligan formally recognized the 302nd for "its proud heritage of service to the people of Ohio" by proclamation last summer.

The Buckeye Wing received its third consecutive Air Force Reserve Community Relations Award for the best community service program within that national command.

Dear Abby:

By Abigail Van Buren

Granddaughter Needs Grandma

DEAR ABBY: My 16-year-old granddaughter is pregnant. The boy is a high school kid with no way of supporting himself, let alone a wife and child, so marriage is out of the question. His folks have thrown him out, and a neighbor has taken him in. My son and daughter-in-law are going to see their daughter through this, and they're keeping the baby.

My problem: How should a 75-year-old grandmother act? Should I act like nothing out of the ordinary has happened, and accept the baby as a legitimate great-grandchild? Or should I show my contempt and disgust and turn away? I guess I was born 75 years too soon because I don't seem able to accept this situation.

So far, I've managed to keep my mouth shut, but I'll have to take a stand soon. I've always had a good relationship with my son and his wife and don't want to spoil it now.

Please help me set my thinking straight.

GRANDMA
DEAR GRANDMA: If your family ever needed your compassion and understanding it's now! You can accept the new baby without condoning the unfortunate circumstances. The last thing your granddaughter needs now is a "show of contempt and disgust." (She's suffered enough.)

DEAR ABBY: I'll bet you've never run into a problem like mine: I am being married in a formal church wedding. My fiancé and I have known each other for two years, and the only name I've ever known him by is "Beaver." His parents have called him "Beaver" ever since they brought him home from the hospital, and everyone has called him "Beaver" ever since.

His real name is Steven, but hardly anyone knows it. When we say our marriage vows, it will seem so unnatural for me to say: "I, Mona, take thee, Steven," because I've never in my life called him Steven. But I'm

Kennedy Tops Ford

PRINCETON, N.J. (AP) — Sen. Edward M. Kennedy would outpoll Vice President Gerald R. Ford if a presidential election were held now, according to the latest Gallup poll.

In a poll of 1,543 adults May 10-13, 50 per cent preferred Kennedy, 39 per cent favored Ford and 11 per cent were undecided on how they would vote.

Other Gallup surveys conducted this year identified the two men as the top choices of Democratic and Republican voters for the presidential nominations of their parties.

The latest poll followed recent Gallup findings that 24 per cent of American voters identified themselves as Republicans, 42 per cent said they were Democrats and 34 per cent identified themselves as independents.

Priest Speaks With Newsman

NEW YORK (AP) — The Rev. John D. McLaughlin, a Jesuit priest who works as a White House aide, says that despite his political work "I'm available for weddings, funerals, baptisms—exorcisms."

Father McLaughlin, 47, said in an interview with People magazine published Sunday that "I've never performed an exorcism, but the time could come."

The priest, an ardent defender of President Nixon, stirred controversy earlier this month when he defended Nixon's use of profanity in the Watergate transcripts.

Egg Industry Bill Progresses

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A little heralded bill to protect and to maintain Ohio's $400 million-a-year egg industry is making its way quietly through the General Assembly.

The measure seeks to exempt machinery and other tangible items used in the handling and packaging of eggs from the state sales tax. Sponsors claim this could be a life or death matter for poultrymen in Ohio's small and middle-sized towns.

The bill passed the House and went to the Senate in mid-May.

Rep. Frederick H. Deering, D-84 Monroeville, is the bill's main sponsor. He introduced the proposal after years of controversy in the courts over whether the industry should pay the tax. It hasn't until now.

Deering said he decided to offer the bill after a recent decision by the Ohio Supreme Court holding that the egg processors must pay the tax just like manufacturers.

Deering offers impressive statistics to show the importance of Ohio's egg industry. Sales alone, he said, total about $150 million a year.

Processors, he said, have an annual payroll of about $7 million and with packaging, transportation and other related activities the impact on the state's economy is about $400 million a year.

Deering said 92 per cent of the Ohio egg industry is situated within 28 miles of the boundaries of neighboring states, which do not impose sales taxes on their industries.

The main purpose of the bill, Deering said, is to grant egg processors in Ohio the same retail sales tax exemption that is granted to their out-of-state competitors.

Veteran Rep. Fred B. Hadley, R-79 Bryan, said the bill is of "vital importance" to the Ohio processors "most of whom operate their businesses in small towns where they are a very important part of their economies."

In his own corner of northwest Ohio, Hadley mentioned West Unity, Wauseon and Napoleon as among communities with sizeable egg processing industries.

17 Rescued From Blaze

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — Two children were rescued from a third floor window and 15 other persons were ushered out of a smoke-filled apartment building late Monday night when a fire of undetermined origin swept through the structure.

Four firemen suffered minor injuries battling the three-alarm blaze in suburban Avondale. Damage was termed extensive.

Cincinnati Fire Chief Bert Lugannani said the fire apparently started in a stairwell. An arson investigation has been requested by Assistant Fire Chief Robert Schinaman, who heads the arson squad.

Approximately 70 persons live in the building, located just west of Xavier University.

Egg Industry Bill Progresses

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A little heralded bill to protect and to maintain Ohio's $400 million-a-year egg industry is making its way quietly through the General Assembly.

The measure seeks to exempt machinery and other tangible items used in the handling and packaging of eggs from the state sales tax.

Sponsors claim this could be a life or death matter for poultrymen in Ohio's small and middle-sized towns.

The bill passed the House and went to the Senate in mid-May.

Rep. Frederick H. Deering, D-84 Monroeville, is the bill's main sponsor. He introduced the proposal after years of controversy in the courts over whether the industry should pay the tax. It hasn't until now.

Deering said he decided to offer the bill after a recent decision by the Ohio Supreme Court holding that the egg processors must pay the tax just like manufacturers.

Deering offers impressive statistics to show the importance of Ohio's egg industry. Sales alone, he said, total about $150 million a year.

Processors, he said, have an annual payroll of about $7 million and with packaging, transportation and other related activities the impact on the state's economy is about $400 million a year.

Deering said 92 per cent of the Ohio egg industry is situated within 28 miles of the boundaries of neighboring states, which do not impose sales taxes on their industries.

The main purpose of the bill, Deering said, is to grant egg processors in Ohio the same retail sales tax exemption that is granted to their out-of-state competitors.

Veteran Rep. Fred B. Hadley, R-79 Bryan, said the bill is of "vital importance" to the Ohio processors "most of whom operate their businesses in small towns where they are a very important part of their economies."

In his own corner of northwest Ohio, Hadley mentioned West Unity, Wauseon and Napoleon as among communities with sizeable egg processing industries.

Law enforcement officers have encountered so many problems in their long fight to remove drug peddlers from the streets it is difficult to pinpoint one as requiring priority action.

Beginning with the smuggling of drugs from other countries, where local officials frequently wink at the practice because they know its profit potential, to imposing sufficiently severe penalties upon conviction, the system all along the line has proved inadequate to the task.

But certainly one area which needs tightening is the pattern of narcotics dealers returning to street sales almost as soon as the hearing has been concluded on a previous narcotics arrest. A survey has been concluded on a previous narcotics arrest. A survey by the Drug Enforcement Administration of 400 individuals arrested and freed on bond in 1972 found 47.5 per cent were identified as having returned to narcotics dealing while awaiting trial on their first offenses.

Evidence in some cases was circumstantial, provided by surveillance of other suspects or by informants. Only 12 per cent of those surveyed were rearrested on drug charges.

But the evidence was sufficient to convince experienced officers that they had found a bad leak in the system.

As a result, the administration has asked Congress for a pretrial detention bill to apply to defendants in illegal narcotics cases. Pretrial detention is a concept which is anathema to civil libertarians, but drug traffickers do not play by the rules of society.

The time may come to single them out for a harsher form of justice, both as a preventive measure and as a deterrent to others who see how easy it is to beat the system.

Truman-Ike Hassle

ON THE LINE
By BOB CONSIDINE

NEW YORK — It's a late date to be clearing up a footnote to the history of the Presidency, but John S. D. Eisenhower does his earnest best in his new book for Doubleday, "Strictly Personal — a Memoir." The footnote concerns the bitterness between Presidents Truman and Eisenhower over the recall from Korea of Maj. John Eisenhower to attend his father's inauguration.

Eisenhower was pictured as incensed by Truman's orders to his son to leave the battleground and fly to Washington for his father's big day. Ike suspected (it was said) a plot to make him, Ike, look bad in the eyes of servicemen who could never receive such special consideration in time of war.

Truman, in the petty but intriguing footnote, was portrayed as furious at the incoming President for not being grateful. ("If I had a son, I'd certainly want him home for my inauguration...") Whatever, the Eisenhowers never invited the Trumans to the White House during Ike's eight years in office.

So take it away, John S. D. Eisenhower!

"On January 8, 1953, I received a telegram instructing me to proceed immediately to the United States, obviously to attend my father's inauguration. There was much misunderstanding about this episode. I was hardly one to demur about coming back to such an important event.

"But I had just been appointed to a position which I prized, one which promised promotion to lieutenant colonel. If I were to be away too long the division might have to find a replacement. I sent a message of protest by quickest possible means back to my father. I received no answer. However I was assured by the division chief of staff that my precious spot would be held for me. Without further ado, I was soon on my way to the United States.

"...Dad and I had been puzzled as to who had actually ordered me home from Korea. Neither General (Omar) Bradley (chairman of the joint Chiefs) nor General J. Lawton Collins, then Army Chief of Staff, knew anything about it. As Dad and President Truman were driving up Pennsylvania Avenue to the Capitol, however, Dad asked the President if he could throw light on the subject.

"Just tell him that crochety old man in the White House did it," was the answer. Nothing more was said. I conjectured for years that it had gone from Truman to his military aide, Major General Harry Vaughan, thence to the Adjutant General of the Army. It would be 19 years later, when I visited Mr. Truman at his home in Independence, that my theory would be confirmed.

"The episode has been widely misinterpreted. I was pictured as angry about coming home. On the contrary, once my position in the 3d Division was secure, I was delighted. I always appreciated Mr. Truman's kind gesture..."

An upcoming Random House collection of the Presidential campaign speeches of Sen. George McGovern makes one marvel that he was not sued by the GOP when he had the audacity to say, on October 2, 1972, "The corruption of government has come many, many times in our national experience... But at no time have we witnessed official corruption as wide or as deep as the mess in Washington right now."

Or, let's say, his wild accusation of October 25, a bit more than a week before the election:

"The men who have collected millions in secret money, who have passed out special favors, who have ordered political sabotage, who have invaded our offices in the dead of night—all of these men work for Mr. Nixon... And their power comes from him alone."

Naturally, the country couldn't trust its Presidency to a wild man such as McGovern. Nixon attracted 47,168,963 votes to the Democrat's 29,169,615; 521 Electoral College votes to a paltry 17.

To date, no slander or libel action has been initiated by the White House lawyers.

Too busy, I'd guess.

Anticancer Drugs Being Explored

WASHINGTON (AP) — Government cancer fighters plan to explore a possibility that some of the life-saving anticancer drugs may provide a kind of double-barreled control over malignancy.

New-found tentative evidence indicates that one such drug may sharply reduce any risk of a second, unrelated cancer developing years later as a result of a patient's initial treatment.

The new, still-unsubstantiated evidence was reported recently by Dr. Giulio J. D'Angio of New York's Memorial Hospital for Cancer and Allied Diseases at a conference sponsored by the American Cancer Society at Dallas, Tex. He identified the drug as Actinomycin-D, an antibiotic.

Dr. C. Gordon Zubrod of the National Cancer Institute said the institute plans to explore this evidence.

During the past year, they and others have voiced suspicions that some still-undefined components of highly-successful drug and/or radiation treatment for certain cancers might cause unrelated second cancers in some patients, primarily children, years later.

Dr. Zubrod, director of the division of cancer treatment at NCI, said a new dimension appears opened up for research—based on the possibility suggested by Dr. D'Angio's report, that certain drugs in the arsenal of the cancer fighters might actually provide some strong built-in insurance against production of such subsequent malignancies.

"That is," he said, "some drugs may diminish the possible risk while others may enhance it, especially when such drugs are combined with radiation." He said researchers now know that radiation sometimes can cause second cancers unrelated to the one originally controlled, and that the task at hand involves identifying the safest and most dangerous drugs and modifying treatments.

LAFF - A - DAY

"He used to leave me big tips... until I married him!"

Speaking Of Your Health

by Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

My husband changes from laxative to laxative, depending on which commercial he listens to. Can't these be harsh and troublesome if taken for a long period of time?

Mrs. J. E. V., Tex.

Dear Mrs. V.:
The laxative habit is an easy one to fall into. It is astonishing how frequently that habit can be broken by a well-balanced diet that includes cereal, fresh and cooked fruits, vegetables and especially plenty of water.

Too many people concentrate on an urgent need for "daily regularity." There is no fixed rule that says that every person must have a bowel movement every day. Many people that are in perfect health may have a movement every two or even every three days.

If people would understand this fact they would be less prone to bounce from one laxative to another. They would wait for the intestinal tract to do its own regulating.

When a doctor prescribes a laxative, he does so for a particular reason, and he chooses one that will accomplish this purpose. Some laxatives act by increasing bulk in the intestinal tract. Others act by stimulating the inner lining. Therefore the choice of a laxative is never a haphazard one, and should not be predicated on the highly exploited sales pitch of "regularity."

I am embarrassed because my eyelashes have fallen out completely. I am 16. What can I do about it?
Miss R. I., Ky.

Dear Miss I.:
If there is no local infection around the eyelashes then the answer to your problem must be sought in allergic studies.

Cosmetics, eye makeup and even nail polish could be the offenders.

It is also known that people under severe emotional stress may sometimes lose their eyelashes. The stress of examinations, for example, may be the cause of your problem.

Are sulfa drugs antibiotics?
Mrs. N. N., N.C.

Dear Mrs. N.:
Sulfa drugs are different technically from antibiotics although they are both used to combat infections.

The decision of the doctor to use one or the other depends on the character of the bacteria involved.

Sulfa drugs, unlike antibiotics, are synthetic chemicals.

Mass Transit Funds Virtually Untouched

WASHINGTON (AP) — The mass transit woes of many cities have one solution waiting for them in Washington. It's bushels of money—estimated at up to $4 billion—available but virtually untouched for almost a year.

All it takes is willingness by state and local governments to make a choice between roads, cars that use them and the fuel they use against energy-saving mass transit.

Last August, Congress passed and President Nixon signed into law a bill freeing billions of dollars from the federal highway trust fund to be used for public transportation, such as buying buses or railcars, or other capital expenses.

Yet, only one state has taken advantage of the law and one other has an application on file with the federal government.

Massachusetts on Thursday received $671 million for use for public mass transit in the Boston area and for a section of highway in the southeastern part of the state. Pennsylvania has filed an application for the Philadelphia area, which could yield about $165 million.

A spokesman for the Urban Mass Transit Administration of the Transportation Department said more states have not taken advantage of the law because cities view public transportation not as a service but as a burden. A spokesman for DOT's Federal Highway Administration said there is about $4 billion available for public mass transit that cities have not sought.

Asked if there were liabilities in requesting the money, the UMTA spokesman said, "Disadvantages? No, not that I can think of, if a state has done its research."

Money received under the act would not cut back on other federal transportation-related funds going to the state, she said.

Massachusetts decided it would be of more benefit to have the money that would have been spent on one section of Interstate highway—a beltway stretch around Boston—transferred for expenditure on public mass transportation needs.

If states opt for the transportation, it can only be publicly owned mass transit, and the money comes from Washington after the federal government is convinced the stretch of highway is not vital to the national Interstate system; that the state and local government have a viable transit plan accompanied by reports on environmental impact, civil rights and so on.

See Tight Supplies Of Steel

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Demand will keep steel supplies tight despite the industry's capacity plans, Industry Week magazine said today.

"If demand for steel remains anywhere near current levels the tight supply situation will prevail for at least three years, and maybe more," it said.

Industry Week said chief executives of steel firms indicate that there still are more problems than solutions, and not enough money, in making capacity expansion plans.

The magazine also said that the multiplicity of base prices and changes in price extras on steel are forcing steel users to make major shifts in their buying policies.

"Besides having to pay increased base prices, steel users are having to analyze new price extras," it explained. "This poses a monumental problem for steel users whose buying practices and even some of their equipment were set up on the basis of the old pricing of extras."

Buyers are examining each price extra in relation to their steel needs and manufacturing practices to see what is now the most economical buying practice, the magazine continued.

My husband changes from laxative to laxative, depending on which commercial he listens to. Can't these be harsh and troublesome if taken for a long period of time?

Mrs. J. E. V., Tex.

Dear Mrs. V.:

The laxative habit is an easy one to fall into. It is astonishing how frequently that habit can be broken by a well-balanced diet that includes cereal, fresh and cooked fruits, vegetables and especially plenty of water.

Too many people concentrate on an urgent need for "daily regularity." There is no fixed rule that says that every person must have a bowel movement every day. Many people that are in perfect health may have a movement every two or even every three days.

If people would understand this fact they would be less prone to bounce from one laxative to another. They would wait for the intestinal tract to do its own regulating.

When a doctor prescribes a laxative, he does so for a particular reason, and he chooses one that will accomplish this purpose. Some laxatives act by increasing bulk in the intestinal tract. Others act by stimulating the inner lining. Therefore the choice of a laxative is never a haphazard one, and should not be predicated on the highly exploited sales pitch of "regularity."

I am embarrassed because my eyelashes have fallen out completely. I am 16. What can I do about it?

Miss R. I., Ky.

Dear Miss I.:

If there is no local infection around the eyelashes then the answer to your problem must be sought in allergic studies.

Cosmetics, eye makeup and even nail polish could be the offenders.

It is also known that people under severe emotional stress may sometimes lose their eyelashes. The stress of examinations, for example, may be the cause of your problem.

Are sulfa drugs antibiotics?

Mrs. N. N., N.C.

Dear Mrs. N.:

Sulfa drugs are different technically from antibiotics although they are both used to combat infections.

The decision of the doctor to use one or the other depends on the character of the bacteria involved.

Sulfa drugs, unlike antibiotics, are synthetic chemicals.

Mass Transit Funds Virtually Untouched

WASHINGTON (AP) — The mass transit woes of many cities have one solution waiting for them in Washington. It's bushels of money—estimated at up to $4 billion—available but virtually untouched for almost a year.

All it takes is willingness by state and local governments to make a choice between roads, cars that use them and the fuel they use against energy-saving mass transit.

Last August, Congress passed and President Nixon signed into law a bill freeing billions of dollars from the federal highway trust fund to be used for public transportation, such as buying buses or railcars, or other capital expenses.

Yet, only one state has taken advantage of the law and one other has an application on file with the federal government.

Massachusetts on Thursday received $671 million for use for public mass transit in the Boston area and for a section of highway in the southeastern part of the state. Pennsylvania has filed an application for the Philadelphia area, which could yield about $165 million.

A spokesman for the Urban Mass Transit Administration of the Transportation Department said more states have not taken advantage of the law because cities view public transportation not as a service but as a burden. A spokesman for DOT's Federal Highway Administration said there is about $4 billion available for public mass transit that cities have not sought.

Asked if there were liabilities in requesting the money, the UMTA spokesman said, "Disadvantages? No, not that I can think of, if a state has done its research."

Money received under the act would not cut back on other federal transportation-related funds going to the state, she said.

Massachusetts decided it would be of more benefit to have the money that would have been spent on one section of Interstate highway—a beltway stretch around Boston—transferred for expenditure on public mass transportation needs.

If states opt for the transportation, it can only be publicly owned mass transit, and the money comes from Washington after the federal government is convinced the stretch of highway is not vital to the national Interstate system; that the state and local government have a viable transit plan accompanied by reports on environmental impact, civil rights and so on.

See Tight Supplies Of Steel

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Demand will keep steel supplies tight despite the industry's capacity plans, Industry Week magazine said today.

"If demand for steel remains anywhere near current levels the tight supply situation will prevail for at least three years, and maybe more," it said.

Industry Week said chief executives of steel firms indicate that there still are more problems than solutions, and not enough money, in making capacity expansion plans.

The magazine also said that the multiplicity of base prices and changes in price extras on steel are forcing steel users to make major shifts in their buying policies.

"Besides having to pay increased base prices, steel users are having to analyze new price extras," it explained. "This poses a monumental problem for steel users whose buying practices and even some of their equipment were set up on the basis of the old pricing of extras."

Buyers are examining each price extra in relation to their steel needs and manufacturing practices to see what is now the most economical buying practice, the magazine continued.

Area Students To Graduate In Columbus

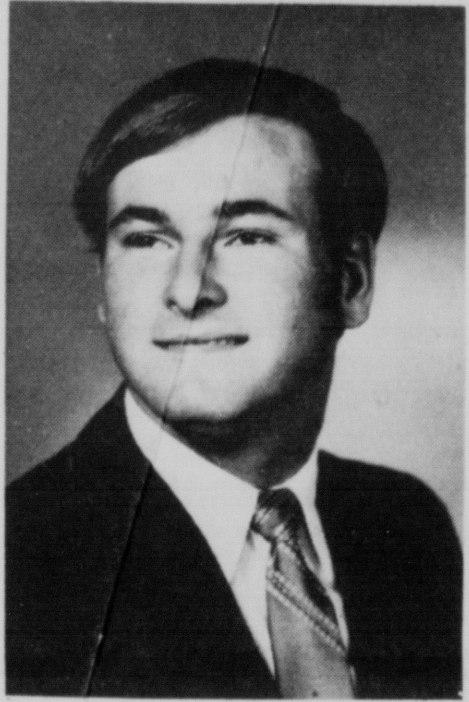

Two students from Pickaway County will graduate from Central High School in Columbus in exercises planned for 4 p.m. Sunday. Receiving diplomas at the commencement ceremonies held at the Riverfront Amphitheater will be Penny Downing, 19, 736 E. Ohio St. and Michael Carle, 19, Route 2.

Both students have been enrolled in the special education program for the deaf in the Columbus school system.

PENNY DOWNING

Miss Downing is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Downing. She has completed courses in business which will enable her to seek employment in an office.

MICHAEL CARLE

Carle, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Carle, plans to attend the New York Technical Institute in Columbus after graduation where he will specialize in auto mechanics.

Blaze Hits Dennison

DENNISON, Ohio (AP)—Fire early today destroyed a four-story brick building at the abandoned Dennison Sewer Pipe Co. plant.

Officials said it was the latest in a series of fires in abandoned buildings in the area over the past year. A former hotel and two stores have also been destroyed and state investigators said arson was suspected in the earlier blazes.

The sewer pipe company plant had been abandoned for 12 years.

About 30 firemen from the Dennison and Uhrichsville departments fought the fire for about an hour before bringing it under control.

Firemen expressed concern for a time that the fire might spread to nearby oil storage tanks.

No injuries were reported.

Black Light Slays Bugs For California Farmers

A product made in Circleville may be cutting pesticide costs for farmers in Southern California according to an article published in the June-July issue of the "Farm Journal".

The product is a Circline Black Light manufactured at the Circleville General Electric Lamp Plant.

The article credits Bud Gage of Butte County, Calif., of discovering that the black light placed over a pan of diesel oil attracts night flying insects that had been damaging his crops.

Gin Duel Brings Death

FORT WALTON BEACH, Fla. (AP)—Grief over claims that he was responsible for two men who drank themselves to death has ended in the death of bartender Claude Kidd, his widow says.

"It upset him that they were saying something that he wasn't guilty of," Catherine Kidd said Sunday, two days after her bar owner husband died of a heart attack. Kidd, 52, had a history of heart trouble.

Kidd officiated at a Memorial Day "gin duel" staged at his bar between Walter Wade, 39, and Eugene Cole, 32. Both men died within two days of the drinking bout, in which each consumed between 32 and 48 ounces of gin in less than an hour.

"They were close friends, all of them," said Mrs. Kidd. "He went to talk to their families. They felt all right with him, didn't feel angry."

But area newspapers quoted Police Chief Tommy Ray as saying that the Florida Beverage Department had been called to take administrative action against Kidd's bar. Ray was quoted as saying that Kidd possibly could face manslaughter charges. Mrs. Kidd said her husband was deeply hurt by such reports.

Wiring Short Causes Fire

The Circleville Fire Department answered a call at 4:25 p.m. Monday to an automobile fire at 402 N. Court St. The auto, owned by Monique Jacobs, Route 5, caught fire from a short in the electrical wiring.

Approximately 20 minutes after arriving at the scene, firemen had the fire extinguished and estimated the damages at $500.

The diesel oil looks fluorescent under the light and attracts insects over a 500-foot radius or about 20 acres. His idea is in use on his 12,000-acre farm and is spreading to other areas.

One of his neighbors put the traps on 60 acres and has eliminated nearly all of his insect sprays. Others in the area have cut sprayings by 50 per cent.

One grower in the area claims his six light and diesel oil traps save him $2,000 a year in spraying costs. He figures it costs him $1 a month to operate the lights. Another grower in the area has done no spraying at all since he installed the lights. The growers are using a 12½-inch lamp, hanging it a few inches above a flat tank that's open across the entire top. An inch of water goes into the bottom of the pan and then it's filled with diesel oil. The oil and insects float on top of the water so when the tank is cleaned it isn't necessary to scrape the bottom.

Gage uses a strainer made from hardware cloth to clean out the pans.

71 New Cases Filed In May

The report for the month of May in Juvenile Court shows a total of 71 cases filed. Fifty-five cases were terminated during the same period leaving 93 cases pending on the last day.

Of the cases terminated during May, 13 were delinquency cases; seven were charges against unruly children; five involved dependent-neglected children; 18 were traffic cases. The court also granted consent for one minor couple to marry.

Eleven adults appeared before Judge Guy G. Cline during the month for charges involving juveniles. One male was sentenced to the temporary care of the Ohio Youth Commission in May. Seven males and seven females were placed on probation.

Toledo Wins Grant For Police Changes

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The federal Law Enforcement Assistance Administration has announced approval of a $350,000 grant for Toledo to improve operations of its police department.

The LEAA said part of the money will be used to decentralize the department into three precincts.

Hog-Corn Ratio Poor For Farmers

WASHINGTON (AP)—A government indicator called the hog-corn ratio slipped last month to the lowest level 18 years, a sign that pork producers continue to be in financial trouble because of high feed prices and relatively low returns for market animals.

The May 15 ratio was 10.7, down from 12.7 in April and 21.9 a year earlier. That is the number of bushels of corn approximately equal in value to 100 pounds of liveweight hog sold by farmers.

According to Agriculture Department records, the May indicator was the lowest since it sank to 10.7 in July 1956. Further, it was the lowest ratio for May since 1948.

Although the squeeze of feed prices and market value of hogs is not news to producers caught in it, the figure itself explains much of the reason why hog output has not increased the past year as government experts once expected.

The May price report, released last Friday, showed hog prices nationally averaged $26.30 per 100 pounds, down from $30.60 in April. A year earlier in May 1973 $35.30 per hundredweight.

But corn sold at the farm a year ago for $1.61 per bushel which represented then a pickup in price from a few months earlier when the 1972 crop was being harvested. Last month, according to USDA, farmers nationally were able to sell corn for $2.45 per bushel.

Department experts, although recognizing the current crunch on hog producers, believe their market prices will improve this summer and next fall. Also, they predict, corn prices will come down in view of a prospective record harvest next fall.

Thus, according to the official view, at least, hog producers may have seen a bottoming-out of the financial squeeze and begin to think about some expansion of breeding programs by next fall and winter.

But the economists also admit that a lot depends on other livestock supply and the overall price situation. Huge competing supplies and continued low of beef, for example, would tend to hold back hog price gains.

Circleville Branch AAUW Entertained By Orchestra

Circleville Branch American Assn. of University Women held its May dinner meeting Tuesday in the Parish House of St. Philip's Episcopal Church.

Entertainment for the evening was provided by the Circleville Chamber Orchestra under the direction of Clara Teegardin. The orchestra was first formed four years ago for the Roundtown Players production of "South

Officers Elected By Philip's Flock

Philip's Flock held a business meeting with election of officers following a cookout Saturday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Parker, Route 1, Stoutsville.

During the business session conducted by Jim Capper officers were elected for the coming year. They are: Mr. and Mrs. Myron Leist, presidents; Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Francis, vice presidents; Mr. and Mrs. William Parker, hospitality, and Mrs. Marion Sines, publicity.

The purposes of the social organization of St. Philip's Episcopal Church were reviewed. The forming of the club was to bring parishioners together and become acquainted socially as well as worshiping together. Monthly events for the past two years have been varied and with the idea of entertainment to please the majority.

Recent events include a weekend at Shawnee State Park and a dance at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Chuck Schieman, 345 Sunset Drive.

Attending the evening at the Parker home were: Mr. and Mrs. James Capper, Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Francis, the Rev. and Mrs. David Allardyce, Mr. and Mrs. Jim Leckrone, Mr. and Mrs. Chuck Schieman, Mr. and Mrs. Dave Williams, Mr. and Mrs. Frank McKaye, Mr. and Mrs. Nick Grubisha, Mr. and Mrs. Jack O'Donnell, and Mrs. Marion Sines.

At the close of the evening Rev. and Mrs. Allardyce recalled traditions including a rock obtained by members and presented the out-going presidents, Mr. and Mrs. Capper, with a large bunch of phlox.

Fall Art Show Plans Discussed By Art League

Circleville Art League met recently at the home of Linda Sweazy in Stoutsville. The winners of the Spring Show were congratulated and members were reminded that first and second place winners and the Artie and Best of Show winners will be exhibited at the Electric Company. The remaining winners will be shown at the public library until June 3rd.

A general discussion of the show and plans for future shows indicated a possible need for entry fees. Teda Theis was appointed chairman of the Fall Show to be held in October.

Members suggested ways they could help inform the area's residents about the various periods and concepts of art. One idea was to publish a series of articles in this paper by the league members. Bill Chandler volunteered to take the first article if arrangements could be made. An art and craft sale during the Pumpkin Show was also discussed.

The program was presented by Bill Chandler on methods of drawing. For examples he used his students work emphasizing the importance of contrasting light and dark values. Mr. Chandler also showed slides of the recent Governor's Youth Exhibit in Columbus.

Hostesses for the evening were Betty Griffith, Martha Reid and Gloria Snodgrass. Other members present were Evelyn Bastain, Bill Chandler, Vally Rahe, Betty Griffith, Laura Hutzleman, Betty Margulis, Marilyn Orr, Pat Passmore, Martha Reid, Vera Saunders, Pauline Savey, Linda Sweazy, Teda Theis, Audra Turner and Elinor Flierl.

Circleville Branch AAUW Entertained By Orchestra

Circleville Branch American Assn. of University Women held its May dinner meeting Tuesday in the Parish House of St. Philip's Episcopal Church.

Entertainment for the evening was provided by the Circleville Chamber Orchestra under the direction of Clara Teegardin. The orchestra was first formed four years ago for the Roundtown Players production of "South

Officers Elected By Philip's Flock

Philip's Flock held a business meeting with election of officers following a cookout Saturday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Parker, Route 1, Stoutsville.

During the business session conducted by Jim Capper officers were elected for the coming year. They are: Mr. and Mrs. Myron Leist, presidents; Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Francis, vice presidents; Mr. and Mrs. William Parker, hospitality, and Mrs. Marion Sines, publicity.

The purposes of the social organization of St. Philip's Episcopal Church were reviewed. The forming of the club was to bring parishioners together and become acquainted socially as well as worshipping together. Monthly events for the past two years have been varied and with the idea of entertainment to please the majority.

Recent events include a weekend at Shawnee State Park and a dance at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Chuck Schieman, 345 Sunset Drive.

Attending the evening at the Parker home were: Mr. and Mrs. James Capper, Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Francis, the Rev. and Mrs. David Allardice, Mr. and Mrs. Jim Leckrone, Mr. and Mrs. Chuck Schieman, Mr. and Mrs. Dave Williams, Mr. and Mrs. Frank McKaye, Mr. and Mrs. Nick Grubisha, Mr. and Mrs. Jack O'Donnell, and Mrs. Marion Sines.

At the close of the evening Rev. and Mrs. Allardice recalled traditions including a rock obtained by members and presented the out-going presidents, Mr. and Mrs. Capper, with a large bunch of phlox.

Fall Art Show Plans Discussed By Art League

Circleville Art League met recently at the home of Linda Sweazy in Stoutsville. The winners of the Spring Show were congratulated and members were reminded that first and second place winners and the Artie and Best of Show winners will be exhibited at the Electric Company. The remaining winners will be shown at the public library until June 3rd.

A general discussion of the show and plans for future shows indicated a possible need for entry fees. Teda Theis was appointed chairman of the Fall Show to be held in October.

Members suggested ways they could help inform the area's residents about the various periods and concepts of art. One idea was to publish a series of articles in this paper by the league members. Bill Chandler volunteered to take the first article if arrangements could be made. An art and craft sale during the Pumpkin Show was also discussed.

The program was presented by Bill Chandler on methods of drawing. For examples he used his students work emphasizing the importance of contrasting light and dark values. Mr. Chandler also showed slides of the recent Governor's Youth Exhibit in Columbus.

Hostesses for the evening were Betty Griffith, Martha Reid and Gloria Snodgrass. Other members present were Evelyn Bastain, Bill Chandler, Vally Rahe, Betty Griffith, Laura Hutzleman, Betty Margulis, Marilyn Orr, Pat Passmore, Martha Reid, Vera Saunders, Pauline Savey, Linda Sweazy, Teda Theis, Audra Turner and Elinor Flierl.

Wedding Plans Are Completed

Plans have been completed for the open church wedding of Miss Patricia Ann Lovenshimer and Dana Lee Sparks. The ceremony will be an event of 6:30 p.m., June 7th, at the Circleville Church of the Nazarene.

Miss Lovenshimer is the daughter of Mrs. Kenneth S. Weaver, 119 Mingo St., and the late Howard Lovenshimer. Mr. Sparks is the son of Mr. and Mrs. George Sparks Sr., Route 1, Circleville.

An open reception will be held at the bride's home immediately following the wedding.

IRA Says British Guilty Of Murder

LONDON (AP) — The Irish Republican Army charged the British government with "callous, brutal and premeditated murder" today after an IRA member on a hunger strike in a British prison died.

Convicted bank robber Michael Gaughan, 24, died Monday night in the top-security Parkhurst Prison on the Isle of Wight after developing pneumonia. He had been fasting since March 31, demanding political prisoner status and transfer to a prison in Northern Ireland.

Gaughan was the first hunger striker to die in Britain since Terence McSweeney, the lord mayor of Cork and an Irish republican leader, in 1920.

Security forces in Northern Ireland braced for new trouble after Gaughan's death but an army spokesman reported no immediate incidents in retaliation. An unidentified man was found shot to death on a roadside on the edge of Belfast, but officials said he apparently had been assassinated by sectarian guerrillas.

Librarians Battle Anti-Obscenity Bill

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Librarians would be subject to harassment and possible criminal charges under a proposed anti-obscenity bill before Ohio lawmakers, the head of their professional organization says.

The bill provides no protection for librarians or library clerks who dispense books which may or may not be considered obscene, said A. Chapman Parsons, executive director of the Ohio Libraries Association.

Parsons said he has testified against the measure, which is in the House Rules Committee awaiting assignment to the floor for a vote.

"We asked for an exemption for library personnel," he said. "That's the only way to protect library clerks from harassment and prosecution."

"As it now stands, the bill permits persons to be hauled in and mugged before any determination is made whether the material is obscene or not," he added.

Approve Grant For Hiring Youth Director

Dieter Droste, president of the Board of Directors of the Pickaway County Volunteers for Youth, Inc. reports the Board's application, June 1, for a federal grant to enable the hiring of a full-time director.

Droste expressed gratitude to County Commissioners Wayne Hines, Dick Tootle and L. Robert Liston Jr., for agreeing to provide five per cent of the monies. The county support had to be matched by another five per cent from the state before the grant for the remaining 90 per cent could be applied from the Federal Administration of Justice Division.

Upon approval of the grant, the organization will begin seeking qualified applicants to direct and coordinate the efforts of the volunteer agency. The non-profit organization functions independently, under the auspices of the Pickaway County Juvenile Court providing juvenile offenders with personal help and guidance on a one-to-one basis.

Currently, there are six active volunteers, four of whom have been working with probationers since December. Two more volunteers will be matched with probationers after approval of their applications and completion of a brief training session.

Anyone interested in serving as a volunteer should contact volunteer coordinator Edith Downing at 474-8916.

President Sets Annapolis Talk

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon will address graduation and commissioning ceremonies Wednesday at the U.S. Naval Academy in Annapolis, Md.

The morning address to the 920 graduates, their families and friends in the football stadium will focus on "foreign policy ... and defense matters," Deputy Press Secretary Gerald L. Warren said Monday.

The last president to address Naval Academy graduates was John F. Kennedy in 1961.

Rights Chairman Appointment Near

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Six or eight candidates for chairman of the Ohio Civil Rights Commission have been interviewed and an appointment is anticipated in the next two weeks, an aide to Gov. John J. Gilligan says.

"Appointments at this level usually are slow because there's a lot of background checking, consideration of candidates," John Hansan said Monday.

Hansan said all of the applicants so far are from Ohio. None is a member of the commission at the present time, he said.

James M. Friedman stepped down as commission chairman, a $12,300-a-year job, Jan. 4. Since then, Clingan Jackson of Youngstown has been acting chairman.

Friedman said he was resigning the

Sheriff's May Statistics Show Accident Increase

Pickaway County Sheriff's Deputies investigated 103 accidents during the month of May, raising 1974's total to 436.

Forty-four persons were injured in 30 accidents with one fatality recorded.

Reckless operation resulted in 16 of the accidents, failure to have the car under control was blamed for 12, and 11 for driving left of center.

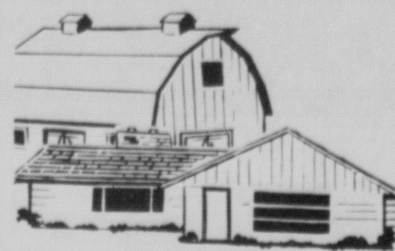

Statistics show that the time period between 3 p.m. and 4 p.m. and 5 p.m. to 6 p.m. Wednesday was the most hazardous to drivers.

Circleville and Salt Creek Townships each recorded 15 accidents, there were 14 wrecks in Harrison Twp. and 11 accidents in Darby Twp.

The office logged 92 offense reports during May, 25 for burglary, 32 for theft, 19 vandalism and 16 miscellaneous offenses.

Deputies also compiled 303 aid and incident reports, 1,522 for the year. Majority of the total were checking suspicious cars and persons, traffic complaints, domestic and miscellaneous calls.

ROCK DAVIS

Fred "Speeder" Davis and his son Rock have the distinction of being the only father and son combination in the history of Circleville athletics to receive the Circleville Booster Club's Most Valuable Player award.

Speeder won for football in 1952 and Rock won this year's MVP award for baseball.

Rock signed a grant in aid with Marietta College where he will play baseball.

His three-year statistics for the Tigers include a .417 batting average, 73 hits in 175 at bats, 46 runs scored, 20 walks, and 23 stolen bases. He cracked 38 RBI's and struckout only 21 times.

Rock made the All-SCOL team all three years he played varsity ball at Circleville. He also plays on the Chillicothe Post 62 American Legion baseball squad.

Shawn Blue tossed a five-hitter to pace Owens-Illinois to a 4-2 win over Bingmans. Blue walked three and fanned eight. Robert Miller and Mark Tacy hit doubles for the winners.

Brad Willoughby pitched a four-hitter in taking the loss. He walked six and fanned nine.

Willoughby cracked a triple and Tracy Wagner belted a double.

TRI-COUNTY

Little League Majors

Ty Caudill fanned 11 in pitching a two-hit shutout of Laurelville.

His Pickaway DuPont team cracked out six hits including a grand slam homer by Mark Short. Fred Redman had a double.

Ernie Craddebaugh had two singles for Laurelville.

Little League Minors

Jeff Hatfield tossed a three hitter as Pickaway cracked Laurelville 24-1. He walked a batter and fanned 16.

Hatfield banded out a homer, triple, double, and two singles to pace his team's 30-hit attack. Todd Pontius had a triple and a double and Hutchinson, Goode, Echard, Harding, Conrad, and Moss had doubles.

Bircher took the loss, fanning six and walking two.

Dave Gerhardt fired a four-hitter to lead his Stoutsville team to a 22-10 win over Saltcreek. He fanned eight batters and walked 19.

James Hunt took the loss, allowing 13 hits, five walks, and fanning 12.

Danny Compton paced the hitting assault with two triples and a double, Marcus Hartley had two doubles, Wayne Zeimer had a double, and Troy Meenach had a double.

All the Saltcreek hits were triples, two by Buck Wagner and one each by Joe Bether and Hunt.

Two players from Circleville High School and four from Logan Elm are expected to figure heavily in the outcome of the South Central Ohio League quest of Chillicothe American Legion Post 62 this year.

The Circleville players are fitting right into the lineup. Rock Davis, who is used as a utility man, cracked out three hits in leading his team to a double-header sweep of Springfield a week ago and Randy Thomas was the winning pitcher in the second game.

Representing LEHS, Greg and Mark Justus have returned to the team as veterans of the summer league, Scott Pontius and Derek Morris are also members of the Post 62 squad.

Upper Lansdowne Plans Junior Golf Program

Upper Lansdowne Golf Links will sponsor a junior golf program for members and guests 10 to 18.

Sessions, starting Friday, June 7, will be held on Friday mornings for seven weeks from 9 a.m. to 12 noon.

Teaching instructor Harry Hoffer, head golf coach at Logan Elm High School, said 25 persons have registered and some openings still remain.

Ovnasus Figures In SD Double

Ovnasus, owned by Royal V. and James R. Hamman of Williamsport, and driven by Forrest Short, accelerated to a 2:06 clocking in the mile to win the second race at Scioto Downs Monday night.

The bay gelding paid $5.40, $3, and $2.60 to win and joined with first race winner Hennesey Abbe for a $40.80 nightly double payoff.

Braves Land 3 Players On Mid-State Golf Team

ALL-LEAGUE—Logan Elm High School golf coach Harry Hoffer, left, stands with three of his players who were named recently to the All-Mid State League golf team. From the left are Marty Fullen, a unanimous choice for the all-conference squad; and Scott and Steve Marshall, honorable mention picks.

The Logan Elm Brave golf team, which culminated three years of effort with a 15-3 overall mark and a second-place finish in the Mid-State League, will have to start all over again, according to Coach Harry Hoffer.

Due to a new ruling handed down by the Ohio High School Athletic Assn., golf is now considered a fall sport. And the Braves will probably lose five players to the football team.

That leaves Hoffer with one linksman with varsity experience in September.

"It will definitely be a rebuilding year," he said, "and so will the next one."

Hoffer began the LE's golf program three years ago and turned the Braves into a bona fide league challenger.

Three of the golfers were tabbed for all-league honors by Mid-State coaches.

Marty Fullen leads the list, picked unanimously as a first-team performer.

Scott and Steve Marshall were named to the honorable mention team.

Fullen and Scott Marshall graduated from Logan Elm last week. Steve will be a junior.

Others selected to the first team are Tom Duckworth and Rhett Richart of league winner Canal Winchester, Keith Lewis of Bloom-Carroll, and Fairfield Union's Greg Kline, the league's most valuable player.

Reds Turn Back Mets

NEW YORK (AP) — Eight months ago, all Pete Rose could hear were insults, threats against his life and the sounds of cans, bottles and other garbage whizzing past his head.

"All I heard tonight was George Foster calling me off the fly balls," the fiery leaders of the Cincinnati Reds said of his fellow outfielder.

And it was Foster who came up smelling like a rose in the Reds' 5-2 victory over the New York Mets Monday night.

The soft-spoken center fielder doubled and singled, scoring one run and driving in one, and made a spectacular throw from left-center field to home plate on the fly, cutting down a base-runner and killing a promising Mets' rally.

Last Oct. 8, in the third game of the National League playoffs, Rose barreled into Mets' shortstop Bud Harrelson, breaking up a double play. The two came up swinging and that match signaled the start of a massive bench-clearing melee.

Monday night's game was the first in New York for the Reds since the playoffs. Rose was the star of the show before the first pitch was ever thrown. The Mets had extra security guards and they kept the left field stands—the ones that had held last season's garbage throwers—empty.

"It was nice," Rose said. "Of course, that's partly because we won. Oh, I heard a few remarks, you know, the stuff like, 'ahh, ya bum, ya.' But let's face it, these are Mets' fans. I hear the same stuff around the rest of the league.

"But the fans didn't throw anything, they didn't say anything out of the ordinary...it was just a very nice game."

The Reds built a 3-0 lead against Jon Matlack, 5-3, on Foster's double and Andy Kosco's single in the second inning. Dave Concepcion's RBI-double in the third and Johnny Bench's RBI-single in the fourth. Then came the turning-point bottom of the fourth.

The Mets got a run off Clay Kirby, 4-3, on a walk and singles by Dave Schneck and Jerry Grote, then loaded the bases with two out when Kosco booted Teddy Martinez' grounder to third.

Matlack followed with a line single to left-center, scoring Schneck. Rose, in left, and Foster converged on the ball. "I could hear Pete yelling, 'home,' Foster said. "When I looked up, Grote was just rounding third. So I really unloaded."

The ball sailed on a line to Bench at home. The catcher had to stretch to catch it, but he was right over the plate. All he had to do was drop his glove. Grote slid right into it.

The Mets had scored a second run but Grote, who would have been the tying one, was out.

"Boy, that was one hell of a throw, wasn't it?" said Rose. "I'll tell you, it really saved the game for us at that point."

And Foster joked: "Wasn't it nice the way I kept the ball in the game, not getting it dirty?"

The Reds added single runs in the fifth on Marv Rettenmund's double and Foster's single and wrapped it up when Rettenmund singled for a run. While public enemy Pete Rose was under heavy surveillance in New York Monday night, Larry Bowa had Carl Morton all staked out in Philadelphia.

Meanwhile in the only other National League game, Bowa learned something while watching Atlanta pitcher Morton and turned his knowledge into a stolen base that set up the tiebreaking run in the Philadelphia Phillies' 5-2 victory over the Braves.

Sports Briefs

DENVER (AP) — Splitting Alex Hannum's former duties between new General Manager Carl Scheer and new Coach Larry Brown may give the Denver Rockets of the American Basketball Association more than just another staff member.

It may give Denver a whole new roster.

Scheer and Brown were named to their new positions with Denver Monday.

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP) — Toledo scored all of its runs in the eighth inning and right-hander Chris Zachary limited Pawtucket to three singles as the Mud Hens blanked the Red Sox, 5-0, in an International League contest Monday night.

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — A hearing on the Cincinnati Bengals' appeal of a court ruling in its dispute with the World Football League has been moved up to June 19.

A three-judge 6th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals panel will hear oral arguments in the National Football League's appeal.

In the only American League games, the Minnesota Twins edged the Boston Red Sox 5-4 in 12 innings and the Baltimore Orioles nipped the Kansas City Royals 4-3.

Phillies 5, Braves 2

Del Unser squeezed Bowa home from third base with the tie-breaking run in the eighth inning and Willie Montanez followed with a two-run double. Meanwhile, Steve Carlton held the Braves to six hits and struck out 11.

Bowa opened the eighth with a single off Morton and went to second on Greg Luzinski's oneout single. Having run a make on Morton's modus operandi, Bowa then stole third—his 16th consecutive theft and 17th in 18 attempts this season—and beat Morton's desperate throw to the plate on Unser's bunt.

Twins 5, Red Sox 4

Larry Hisle singled home the winning run with the bases loaded in the 12th inning and Bill Hands contributed a brilliant relief stint to notch his 100th major league victory.

Orioles 4, Royals 3

Grant Jackson, Baltimore's third pitcher of the seventh inning, choked off a Kansas City rally and preserved Baltimore's victory. Doyle Alexander, making only his third start, entered the inning with a 4-1 lead but was replaced by Bob Reynolds with two on and two out.

Rangers In Rematch With Tribe

CLEVELAND (AP) — The Texas Rangers come to town tonight for a rematch with the Cleveland Indians. Hopefully the battling will be strictly in the form of baseball.

When the Indians were in Arlington last week a massive brawl erupted that involved almost all the players on both teams, and even some of the Ranger fans got involved.

There were a lot of fists and some beer throwing and Indian second baseman Jack Brohamer, promised some revenge after the incident. Brohamer was on the bottom of a pile and absorbed some punches to the face while on the ground.

Texas Ranger infielder Lenny Randle, running out of the baseline and knocking over Indian pitcher Milt Wilcox, got the action started.

"The first thing on our mind is to win the game," Brohamer said. "With (Buddy) Bell and (John) Ellis out right now really isn't a good time to get in a fight."

Bell is 6-feet-2, 185 pounds and Ellis weighs in at 215.

Brohamer, who weighs only 165 pounds, says he has cooled down a lot since the incident.

"I won't be looking for a fight, but if they come high into second, I'll just drop down," Brohamer added.

PUBLIC NOTICE

Notice is hereby given that General Telephone Company of Ohio has filed with The Public Utilities Commission of Ohio an application stating that the Company is entitled, because of the reasons set forth in said application, to reasonable and equitable increases and adjustments in its rates and charges for local exchange telephone service, and to cancel and withdraw certain sheets of its existing tariffs and to substitute therefor its proposed revised sheets of General Exchange Tariff, P.U.C.O. No. 7, and its proposed revised sheets of Exchange Rate Tariff, P.U.C.O. No. 6, to effect such increases and adjustments in its rates and charges, all as more fully set forth in the application on file with the Commission and in the exhibits thereto attached and made a part thereof.

The proposed schedule of rates and charges and the changes and revisions applied for in the application will, if approved by the Commission, provide the Company approximately $13,538,601 in additional annual revenue or a 6.82% rate of return on the Company's rate base. The proposed schedule of rates and charges, if approved, will result in a 30.35% increase in basic exchange rates for residential service and a 33.02% increase in local exchange rates for business services. In addition, the Company proposes increases and adjustments in many other of its communication services. Listed below are the Company's present rates and proposed rates by rate schedule and class of service, and a classification of exchanges by rate schedule.

The proposed tariff revisions will effect increases and adjustments in rates and charges throughout the territory in which the Company operates. A copy of the Application including a copy of the proposed tariff revisions may be inspected by any interested party at the offices of the Commission, 111 North High Street, Columbus, and at public business offices of the Company. The form of this notice has been approved by The Public Utilities Commission of Ohio.

Cincy, Middletown Win Crowns

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)— Winning a state high school championship was new for Wickliffe, but it was old hat for Cincinnati Reading and Middletown Fenwick.

The three schools ruled 1974 Ohio scholastic baseball with their championship triumphs Monday at Ohio State.

"Our kids didn't quit and we owe that to our fans," said Ken Ranallo after guiding Wickliffe from a four-run deficit to a 6-5 Class AAA title victory over Cincinnati Princeton.

Cincinnati Reading grabbed a state baseball title for the fifth time, sweeping past jittery Wooster Triway 8-2 for the Class AAA laurels. Reading previously won in 1942-44-46-57.

"Consistency was our biggest asset all year and then we started hitting in the tournaments," said Reading's first-year Coach Tom Higgins. It was the 32nd baseball crown for Cincinnati area schools in the tournament's 47 years.

Fenwick, trimming Carroll of Fairfield County 6-3 for the Class A championship, fulfilled Coach Fred Nori's preseason prediction.

"I told the boys they would win the state title before they played their first game this spring," revealed Nori, an assistant coach on Fenwick's Class A football playoff champions last fall.

Wickliffe, 18-8, a suburban Cleveland school, won its first state title in dramatic fashion, center fielder Greg DiMeolo scoring on a wild pitch in the last inning.

Ironically, Princeton ace Steve Nagel, in his first inning of relief pitching, uncorked the wild throw. It was Nagel's first loss in 14 1974 games. Princeton wound up at 29-14.

Reading right-hander John Burden spaced three Triway hits for a 12-0 record and 32-4 for the Blue Devils.

The Cincinnati school scored six of its runs on Triway miscues, three on walks and one each on an error, wild pitch and passed ball. Triway finished 12-5.

Greg Klapheke, a star linebacker and halfback for Fenwick's football champions, combined with reliever Jeff Hamilton for a four-hitter as the Falcons wound up with a 29-3 record. Carroll finished 19-7.

Reds Turn Back Mets

NEW YORK (AP) — Eight months ago, all Pete Rose could hear were insults, threats against his life and the sounds of cans, bottles and other garbage whizzing past his head.

"All I heard tonight was George Foster calling me off the fly balls," the fiery leaders of the Cincinnati Reds said of his fellow outfielder.

And it was Foster who came up smelling like a rose in the Reds' 5-2 victory over the New York Mets Monday night.

The soft-spoken center fielder doubled and singled, scoring one run and driving in one, and made a spectacular throw from left-center field to home plate on the fly, cutting down a base-runner and killing a promising Mets' rally.

Last Oct. 8, in the third game of the National League playoffs, Rose barreled into Mets' shortstop Bud Harrelson, breaking up a double play. The two came up swinging and that match signaled the start of a massive bench-clearing melee.

Monday night's game was the first in New York for the Reds since the playoffs. Rose was the star of the show before the first pitch was ever thrown. The Mets had extra security guards and they kept the left field stands—the ones that had held last season's garbage throwers—empty.

"It was nice," Rose said. "Of course, that's partly because we won. Oh, I heard a few remarks, you know, the stuff like, 'ahh, ya bum, ya.' But let's face it, these are Mets' fans. I hear the same stuff around the rest of the league."

"But the fans didn't throw anything, they didn't say anything out of the ordinary...it was just a very nice game."

The Reds built a 3-0 lead against Jon Matlack, 5-3, on Foster's double and Andy Kosco's single in the second inning, Dave Concepcion's RBI-double in the third and Johnny Bench's RBI-single in the fourth. Then came the turning-point bottom of the fourth. The Mets got a run off Clay Kirby, 4-3, on a walk and singles by Dave Schneck and Jerry Grote, then loaded the bases with two out when Kosco booted Teddy Martinez' grounder to third.

Matlack followed with a line single to left-center, scoring Schneck.

Rose, in left, and Foster converged on the ball. "I could hear Pete yelling, 'home,' Foster said. "When I looked up, Grote was just rounding third. So I really unloaded."

The ball sailed on a line to Bench at home. The catcher had to stretch to catch it, but he was right over the plate. All he had to do was drop his glove. Grote slid right into it.

The Mets had scored a second run but Grote, who would have been the tying one, was out.

"Boy, that was one hell of a throw, wasn't it?" said Rose. "I'll tell you, it really saved the game for us at that point."

And Foster joked: "Wasn't it nice the way I kept the ball in the game, not getting it dirty?"

The Reds added single runs in the fifth on Marv Rettenmund's double and Foster's single and wrapped it up when Rettenmund singled for a run. While public enemy Pete Rose was under heavy surveillance in New York Monday night, Larry Bowa had Carl Morton all staked out in Philadelphia. Meanwhile in the only other National League game, Bowa learned something while watching Atlanta pitcher Morton and turned his knowledge into a stolen base that set up the tiebreaking run in the Philadelphia Phillies' 5-2 victory over the Braves.

In the only American League games, the Minnesota Twins edged the Boston Red Sox 5-4 in 12 innings and the Baltimore Orioles nipped the Kansas City Royals 4-3.

Phillies 5, Braves 2

Del Unser squeezed Bowa home from third base with the tie-breaking run in the eighth inning and Willie Montanez followed with a two-run double. Meanwhile, Steve Carlton held the Braves to six hits and struck out 11.

Bowa opened the eighth with a single off Morton and went to second on Greg Luzinski's oneout single. Having run a make on Morton's modus operandi, Bowa then stole third—his 16th consecutive theft and 17th in 18 attempts this season—and beat Morton's desperate throw to the plate on Unser's bunt.

Twins 5, Red Sox 4

Larry Hise singled home the winning run with the bases loaded in the 12th inning and Bill Hands contributed a brilliant relief stint to notch his 100th major league victory.

Orioles 4, Royals 3

Grant Jackson, Baltimore's third pitcher of the seventh inning, choked off a Kansas City rally and preserved Baltimore's victory. Doyle Alexander, making only his third start, entered the inning with a 4-1 lead but was replaced by Bob Reynolds with two on and two out.

Rangers In Rematch With Tribe

CLEVELAND (AP) — The Texas Rangers came to town tonight for a rematch with the Cleveland Indians. Hopefully the battling will be strictly in the form of baseball.

When the Indians were in Arlington last week a massive brawl erupted that involved almost all the players on both teams, and even some of the Ranger fans got involved.

There were a lot of fists and some beer throwing and Indian second baseman Jack Brohamer, promised some revenge after the incident. Brohamer was on the bottom of a pile and absorbed some punches to the face while on the ground.

Texas Ranger infielder Lenny Randle, running out of the baseline and knocking over Indian pitcher Milt Wilcox, got the action started.

"The first thing on our mind is to win the game," Brohamer said. "With (Buddy) Bell and (John) Ellis out right now really isn't a good time to get in a fight."

Bell is 6-foot-2, 185 pounds and Ellis weighs in at 215.

Brohamer, who weighs only 165 pounds, says he has cooled down a lot since the incident.

"I won't be looking for a fight, but if they come high into second, I'll just drop down," Brohamer added.

Sports Briefs

DENVER (AP) — Splitting Alex Hannum's former duties between new General Manager Carl Scheer and new Coach Larry Brown may give the Denver Rockets of the American Basketball Association more than just another staff member.

It may give Denver a whole new roster.

Scheer and Brown were named to their new positions with Denver Monday.

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP) — Toledo scored all of its runs in the eighth inning and right-hander Chris Zachary limited Pawtucket to three singles as the Mud Hens blanked the Red Sox, 5-0, in an International League contest Monday night.

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — A hearing on the Cincinnati Bengals' appeal of a court ruling in its dispute with the World Football League has been moved up to June 19.

A three-judge 6th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals panel will hear oral arguments in the National Football League's appeal.

PUBLIC NOTICE
Notice is hereby given that General Telephone Company of Ohio has filed with The Public Utilities Commission of Ohio an application stating that the Company is entitled, because of the reasons set forth in said application, to reasonable and equitable increases and adjustments in its rates and charges for local exchange telephone service, and to cancel and withdraw certain sheets of its existing tariffs and to substitute therefor its proposed revised sheets of General Exchange Tariff, P.U.C.O. No. 7, and its proposed revised sheets of Exchange Rate Tariff, P.U.C.O. No. 6, to effect such increases and adjustments in its rates and charges, all as more fully set forth in the application on file with the Commission and in the exhibits thereto attached and made a part thereof.
The proposed schedule of rates and charges and the changes and revisions applied for in the application will, if approved by the Commission, provide the Company approximately $135,388,000 in additional annual revenue or a 6.62% rate of return on the Company's rate base. The proposed schedule of rates and charges, if approved, will result in a 30.35% increase in basic exchange rates for residential service and a 33.02% increase in local exchange rates for business services. In addition, the Company proposes increases and adjustments in many other of its communication services. Listed below are the Company's present rates and proposed rates by rate schedule and class of service, and a classification of exchanges by rate schedule.
The proposed tariff revisions will effect increases and adjustments in rates and charges throughout the territory in which the Company operates. A copy of the Application including a copy of the proposed tariff revisions may be inspected by any interested party at the offices of the Commission, 111 North High Street, Columbus, and all public business offices of the Company. The form of this notice has been approved by The Public Utilities Commission of Ohio.

Your Horoscope

By FRANCIS DRAKE

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

FOR WEDNESDAY

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 20): Follow up a potentially good tip you once brushed aside — but not impulsively or unprepared. For best results, you MUST have a definite plan.

TAURUS (Apr. 21 to May 21): You may be attracted to an individual who seems aloof, indifferent. Making a gesture of friendship could change the situation considerably.

GEMINI (May 22 to June 21): Let others "be themselves." The Gemini is usually a most tolerant individual, never trying to dominate others, but such inclinations prevail now.

CANCER (June 22 to July 23): A brand new financial start indicated — accompanied by high hopes, which CAN be realized. You MUST take the initiative, however — and confidently.

LEO (July 24 to Aug. 23): You may be concerned about the "whys and wherefores" of certain events. Insight IS available, but you'll need the help of a close associate to attain it.

VIRGO (Aug. 24 to Sept. 23): Creative interests stimulated. Your ideas are not only inspirational but highly feasible. Also favored: romance and family concerns.

LIBRA (Sept. 24 to Oct. 23): Some requests may annoy, but think them over carefully. Compliance COULD prove profitable in the long run — and bring you satisfaction as well.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 to Nov. 22): By interpreting situations arbitrarily, you may miss intended meanings. Do not hesitate to call in clever associates for better understanding. Day needs collaboration, teamwork.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23 to Dec. 21): Your competition will be keen now, but the challenge should prove stimulating. A good chance to display your ingenuity and know-how.

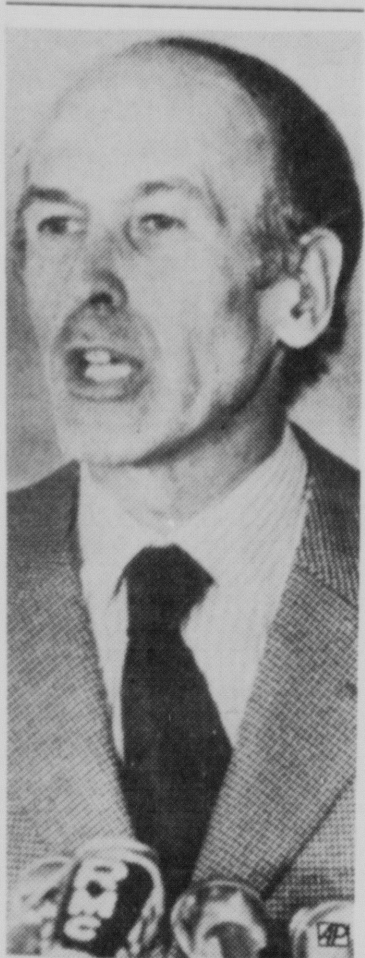

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20): Day calls for your steadiest heart and hand. Don't try to swim against the tide and don't try to force issues.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19): A day which you can mold pretty much to your liking. Take a firm and knowing hand early and plan your schedule smartly. Make no snap decisions, however.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20): Self-reliance should be your keyword now. Don't let others do your thinking for you. Neither let anyone sway you from a worthwhile course.

YOU BORN TODAY are extremely imaginative and, in all your undertakings, combine the artistic with the practical. Your interests in life are almost limitless, but it is in your absorption with people that you find your greatest stimulation. Try to cultivate this trait since you are also inclined to be too introspective at times and outside contacts "take you out of yourself." Your versatility is outstanding and you could run a business or work project shrewdly while simultaneously pursuing an avocation such as writing, drawing or music. You are ready to travel on short notice and will labor tirelessly if the project in which you are engaged interests you. If not interested, you tend to scatter energies with resultant tensions and anxieties. There is no set boundary for the Gemini. He broadens his horizons every day of his life. Birthday of Adam Smith, economist.

FRENCH PRESIDENT — Valéry Giscard d'Estaing, above, is the new president of France. He succeeds George Pompidou.

George Purvis, 26, of Colchester, England, has claimed the world beer-drinking record after quaffing an imperial pint in 1.1 seconds.

Views On Television

NEW YORK (AP) — One of the nation's costliest tree houses, rushed to completion last month in Washington, D.C., hasn't been used since May 20. But don't ask if you can play in it if you come to Washington.

It's reserved exclusively for the two TV cameramen and a lighting director who'll be in from the day the House Judiciary Committee finally opens its impeachment investigation to the public.

The tree house, so named by ABC officials, cost an estimated $19,000 to put up. It's located on the south side of the massive Rayburn Building, which cost an estimated $150 million to put up.

The cost of erecting the two-story tree house was shared by the three commercial networks and public television, according to spokesmen for ABC, which supervised the construction. Unlike the Rayburn Building, which took nearly three years to finish, the air-conditioned wood tree house was completed in one frantic night three weekends ago, ABC's Bob Siegenthaler says.

Siegenthaler, a senior producer in ABC News' special events department, said the rush job was made necessary because at that time it appeared the public hearings would start May 21. Has anyone tried to tiptoe to the treehouse for bugging purposes or to eavesdrop on the committee's closed sessions?

"None of our people," laughed Siegenthaler, who said the committee orders periodic checks of the installation and puts a security man on duty during closed sessions to guard against unauthorized ears.

He said the structure was locked shut May 20 after tests of the camera and lighting gear and nobody was allowed to go in again.

Webster's Adds Ms.

SPRINGFIELD, Mass. (AP) — Did you know that "Ms." is now in Webster's New Collegiate Dictionary? "Used instead of Miss or Mrs. (as when the marital status of a woman is unknown)" is how the Collegiate treats "Ms." The acceptable pronunciation is listed as "miz."

"Icekhana," "warning track" and "Juke" are new dictionary entries from what field? If you said "sports," go to the head of the class. "Icekhana" is from auto racing; "warning track" from baseball; and "Juke" from football. They're among hundreds of new sports words now in the dictionary.

A housewife from Birmingham, England, has offered herself for use as a guinea pig in poison gas tests if the U.S. Air Force will abandon its plan to subject 200 beagle puppies to the noxious fumes.

Your Horoscope

By FRANCIS DRAKE

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

FOR WEDNESDAY

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 20): Follow up a potentially good tip you once brushed aside — but not impulsively or unprepared. For best results, you MUST have a definite plan.

TAURUS (Apr. 21 to May 21): You may be attracted to an individual who seems aloof, indifferent. Making a gesture of friendship could change the situation considerably.

GEMINI (May 22 to June 21): Let others "be themselves." The Geminian is usually a most tolerant individual, never trying to dominate others, but such inclinations prevail now.

CANCER (June 22 to July 23): A brand new financial start indicated — accompanied by high hopes, which CAN be realized. You MUST take the initiative, however — and confidently.

LEO (July 24 to Aug. 23): You may be concerned about the "whys and wherefores" of certain events. Insight IS available, but you'll need the help of a close associate to attain it.

VIRGO (Aug. 24 to Sept. 23): Creative interests stimulated. Your ideas are not only inspirational but highly feasible. Also favored: romance and family concerns.

LIBRA (Sept. 24 to Oct. 23): Some requests may annoy, but think them over carefully. Compliance COULD prove profitable in the long run — and bring you satisfaction as well.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 to Nov. 22): By interpreting situations arbitrarily, you may miss intended meanings. Do not hesitate to call in clever associates for better understanding. Day needs collaboration, teamwork.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23 to Dec. 21): Your competition will be keen now, but the challenge should prove stimulating. A good chance to display your ingenuity and know-how.

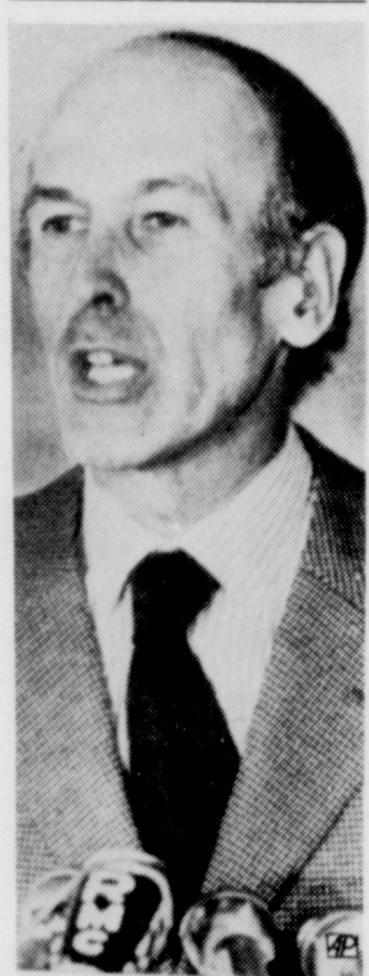

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20): Day calls for your steadiest heart and hand. Don't try to swim against the tide and don't try to force issues.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19): A day which you can mold pretty much to your liking. Take a firm and knowing hand early and plan your schedule smartly. Make no snap decisions, however.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20): Self-reliance should be your keyword now. Don't let others do your thinking for you. Neither let anyone sway you from a worthwhile course.

YOU BORN TODAY are extremely imaginative and, in all your undertakings, combine the artistic with the practical. Your interests in life are almost limitless, but it is in your absorption with people that you find your greatest stimulation. Try to cultivate this trait since you are also inclined to be too introspective at times and outside contacts "take you out of yourself." Your versatility is outstanding and you could run a business or work project shrewdly while simultaneously pursuing an avocation such as writing, drawing or music. You are ready to travel on short notice and will labor tirelessly if the project in which you are engaged interests you. If not interested, you tend to scatter energies with resultant tensions and anxieties. There is no set boundary for the Geminian. He broadens his horizons every day of his life. Birthday of: Adam Smith, economist.

FRENCH PRESIDENT — Valéry Giscard d'Estaing, above, is the new president of France. He succeeds George Pompidou.

George Purvis, 26, of Colchester, England, has claimed the world beer-drinking record after quaffing an imperial pint in 1.1 seconds.

NEW YORK (AP) — One of the nation's costliest tree houses, rushed to completion last month in Washington, D.C., hasn't been used since May 20. But don't ask if you can play in it if you come to Washington.

It's reserved exclusively for the two TV cameramen and a lighting director who'll be in it from the day the House Judiciary Committee finally opens its impeachment investigation to the public.

The tree house, so named by ABC officials, cost an estimated $19,000 to put up. It's located on the south side of the massive Rayburn Building, which cost an estimated $150 million to put up.

The cost of erecting the two-story tree house was shared by the three commercial networks and public television, according to spokesmen for ABC, which supervised the construction. Unlike the Rayburn Building, which took nearly three years to finish, the air-conditioned wood tree house was completed in one frantic night three weekends ago, ABC's Bob Siegenthaler says.

Siegenthaler, a senior producer in ABC News' special events department, said the rush job was made necessary because at that time it appeared the public hearings would start May 21. Has anyone tried to tiptoe to the treehouse for bugging purposes or to eavesdrop on the committee's closed sessions?

"None of our people," laughed Siegenthaler, who said the committee orders periodic checks of the installation and puts a security man on duty during closed sessions to guard against unauthorized ears.

He said the structure was locked shut May 20 after tests of the camera and lighting gear and nobody was allowed to go in again.

Webster's Adds Ms.

SPRINGFIELD, Mass. (AP) — Did you know that "Ms." is now in Webster's New Collegiate Dictionary? "Used instead of Miss or Mrs. (as when the marital status of a woman is unknown)" is how the Collegiate treats "Ms."

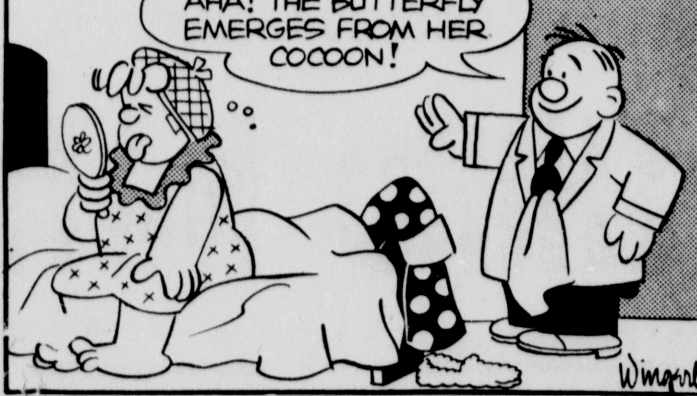

The acceptable pronunciation is listed as "miz." "Icekhana," "warning track" and "Juke" are new dictionary entries from what field? If you said "sports," go to the head of the class. "Icekhana" is from auto racing; "warning track" from baseball; and "Juke" from football. They're among hundreds of new sports words now in the dictionary.

A housewife from Birmingham, England, has offered herself for use as a guinea pig in poison gas tests if the U.S. Air Force will abandon its plan to subject 200 beagle puppies to the noxious fumes.

Bowers Is Low Bidder On County Home Demolition

John N. Bowers, 229 N. Court St., was low bidder on demolition of the old Pickaway County Children's Home, according to Pickaway County Commissioners.

His bid of $5884 for complete razing of the structure was about $600 under the second-best estimate submitted by George G. Hukill of the General Construction Co., Steubenville.

Highest of the seven bids received was given by Bierlein Builders and Movers, Inc., of Saginaw, Mich. It was nearly $30,000.

Work will begin immediately on the structure, which was condemned by the state several years ago. It has deteriorated badly since, according to Commissioner Wayne Hines, and is now considered dangerous.

Sandstone in the old structure is the only salvageable item.

The contract calls for a 90-day completion date.

The County Engineer's maintenance repair road resurfacing program for 1974 was accepted by commissioners. Bids will be received June 24 at 11 a.m. Completion date is set for Sept. 15.

Materials include bitumens, stabilized crushed aggregate for berm, crushed gravel, and plant mixed 404

Air Crash Case Nixed

WASHINGTON (AP)—A dispute between Trans World Airlines and Delta Air Lines, stemming from a 1967 accident at Greater Cincinnati Airport, was denied a review Monday by the U.S. Supreme Court.

The high court's refusal let stand a decision by the 6th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals in favor of Delta's indemnity claim against TWA.

George W. Rosenthal, a passenger on the TWA plane, sparked the indemnity claim through damage actions. Rosenthal was injured and his wife killed in the mishap.

Delta settled with Rosenthal after a jury awarded him damages on the basis that Delta's negligence led to the accident.

The mishap occurred when the TWA plane aborted a takeoff after sighting the Delta plane mired in mud near the runway.

The appeals court found contributory negligence by the TWA crew.

Penny Candy On Way Out

CHICAGO (AP) — Penny candy apparently is going the way of copper pennies. Out.

Higher prices are the reason.

Peter F. Norton, a member of board of the National Confectioners Association, predicted in an interview Monday that penny candies will soon be a thing of the past.

And Norton also said the 15-cent candy bar is fast becoming the 20-cent candy bar or a smaller 15-cent bar.

Norton, executive vice president of Ludens Inc., Reading, Pa., manufacturer of candy as well as cough drops, is in Chicago for the association's annual convention and exposition.

He said the price of candy has been slow to rise in relation to the price of a cup of coffee or a soft drink but that lately the cost of candy ingredients has increased sharply, forcing the price of candy up.

He said sugar, for example, has gone up 250 per cent since January and that in two years the price of cocoa beans has increased from 21 cents to $1.10 a pound.

Bowling Green Teacher Strike Comes To End

BOWLING GREEN, Ohio (AP) — Classes were to resume today for Bowling Green's 3,800 public school pupils after teachers voted to accept a 5.3 per cent salary increase and end a two-day strike.

The tentative, one-year agreement would cover all regular school employees and was announced jointly Monday night by the board of education, Bowling Green Teachers Association and the local chapter of the Public School Employees Association.

Some 184 teachers walked off the job Friday. The proposal accepted Monday night was the board's third offer in two days of negotiations.

The school board said teachers will be required to make up the two days lost in the strike, but pupils won't because they have completed the required 180 days of classes.

4 Persons Dead In Domestic Tiff

LANCASTER, Ohio (AP) — A domestic quarrel in Lancaster Monday night claimed the lives of four people, police said today.

The victims were identified as Leslie Hunt, 53, his estranged wife, Delores, and Mr. and Mrs. James Iser.

Lancaster police said Hunt was arguing with his wife over support payments for their children. He apparently pulled a gun, shot his wife and the couple visiting her, then turned the gun on himself, police said.

asphalt concrete.

Improvement by contract was held to the eastern sector of the county.

In the northeast, improvement includes about 4.92 miles of the Circleville-Winchester Rd. to the Franklin County line; about 2.61 miles of Marcy Rd. to the Fairfield County line; and about 3.76 miles of the Ashville-St. Paul Rd.

In the central eastern part of the county, work includes about 1.17 miles of the Ashville-Fairfield Rd. to the Fairfield County line and about 1.35 miles of the E. Ringgold-Northern Rd. north of Ringgold.

In the southeast, work includes about 2.20 miles of the Tarlton-Adelphi Rd. to the Ross County line and a 2.6 miles stretch of the Kingston-Adelphi Rd. south of Meade.

Road improvements to be made with an inch of concrete include a 2.80 mile stretch of the Circleville-Kingston Rd. south of Circleville, and about 4.55 miles of the Circleville-Stoutsville Rd. from Circleville to the Fairfield County line.

Mrs. Robert O. Barnes of Williamsport was appointed by the commissioners to fill the unexpired term of Mrs. Opal Sims on Board 648 of the Paint Valley Mental Health and Mental Retardation Board.

Commissioners will hear two annexation petitions to the village of Ashville Aug. 7 in the Court of Common Pleas.

Harold R. Henson Jr. and Elizabeth A. Henson are seeking to have .68 acres of an .89 acre tract annexed into the northern part of the village.

The land is bounded on the south by the north corporation line, Route 752. It is located east of the Circleville-Lockbourne Rd., but .11 acres of bordering land is requested to remain in Harrison Twp.

The petition will be heard at 9 a.m. At 10 a.m., petitions will be heard from Lynn and Darlene Kreuzer to annex two tracts of land containing 22.386 acres into the village.

The land, site of the Ashville Water Tower, is bounded by the C and O Railroad on the west, the N and W Railroad on the east, and Station St. on the south. It is just south of South St. on the northern border.
